

Australian workers are vulnerable to automation.

Forecast to 2030

39.4% of retail and wholesale trade

35.4% of financial services

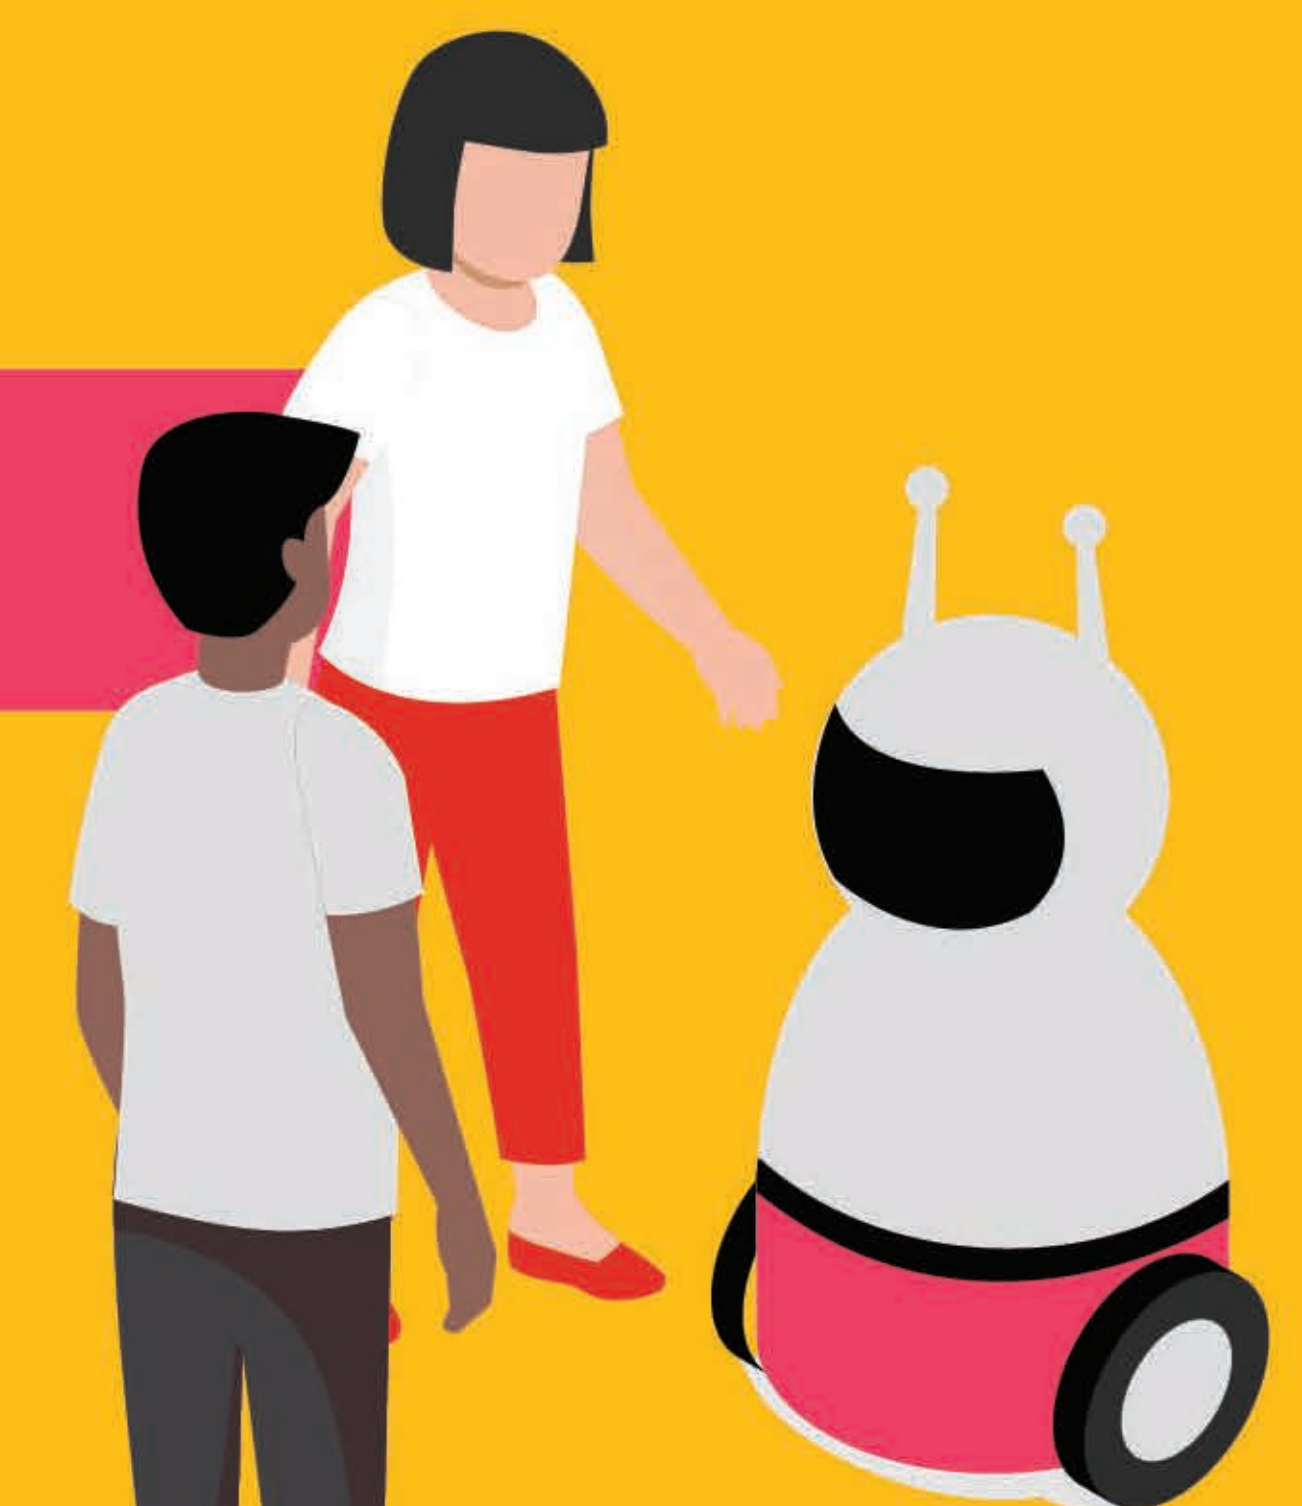

35% of manufacturing

61% of Australians feel that the government should act to protect jobs from automation, most acutely expressed by 18-34 year-olds (63%).

44% of Australians

are worried about their job being automated, and 32% think their job will be obsolete within 5 years.

55% of Australians believe that technology will improve job prospects.

